One day in 1960 an enthusiastic young teacher joined the staff at Bonner Springs High School. It was a lucky day for the students and the community! In ten years this teacher has become a tradition and an important memory for every Bonner High graduate.

As a teacher, this man has taught skills and pride to every student of drafting and welding.

As an educator, he has excelled and received the Educator of the Year Award in 1967 from the Rotary Club.

As a coach, he has been a character-builder as well as a champion maker.

As a faculty member, he was chosen to design the shop area of the new building.

As a member of the community, he has conducted football, baseball and wrestling programs for the younger athletes.

And, as a loyal Brave, he was the originator of "The Harlem Goat", the Bonner victory song.

All students will remember vividly the huddle and chant that surrounds this special teacher after a sports victory.

We can never repay this man for his loyal service—but we can and do dedicate the 1969-70 Totem Pole to Mr. Richard Burns.

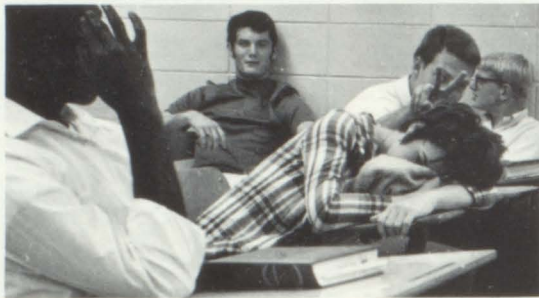

*Mr. Burns—An Enthusiastic,
Teacher, Coach, And Friend*

We Stopped The

School is a collage of colorful activities—joining organizations, attending classes, participating in or observing sports, and working toward achievements. As the events in this book were being recorded, each student was performing, feeling, and reacting differently. Yet, when this book is reopened in the future, it will have recorded many similar performances, identical reactions, and common feelings shared by familiar and not-so-familiar friends.

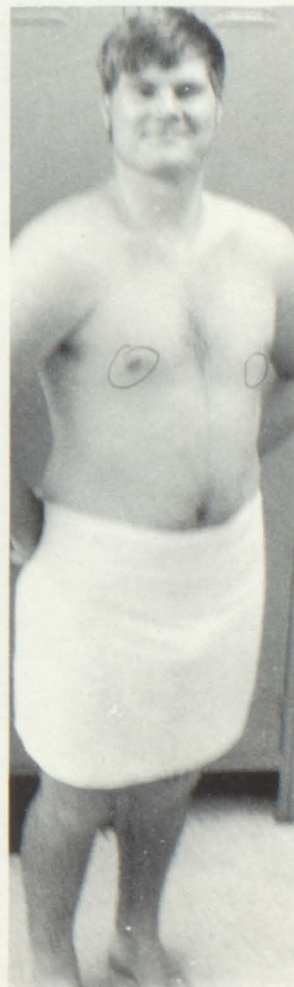

Our objective is to record the “now” as it happened, to re-create memories for tomorrow—the good feeling of a victory, the obnoxiousness of that eccentric teacher, the face of a special boy or girl, the halls and walls of the building that held us captive for four full years. We've tried to stop on film, the way we dressed and the way we reacted, the typical and the different, the unusual and the stereotyped, the candid and the posed.

"Now" . . . For Tomorrow

This combination along with excerpts of our language is our way of "stopping" our high school lives when we loved them most — to reflect upon and remember vividly later. Perhaps then we will be able to close the book and look forward to the realization of our high school dreams.

...Is he giving another Constitution test today?...A report on Biafra...Your new dress is darling!...“Who’s responsible?...But I don’t think his hair is too long...Who was elected?...Christmas Queen?...Injun Joe?...Isn’t he good-looking...Look at that bod...Where’s Wellington?...A chemistry test, but I didn’t study... .

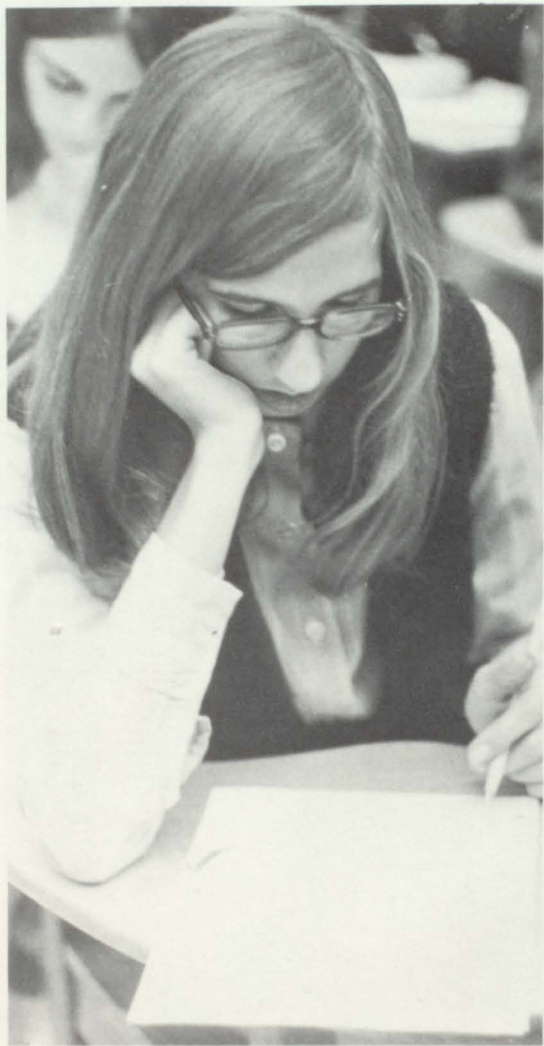

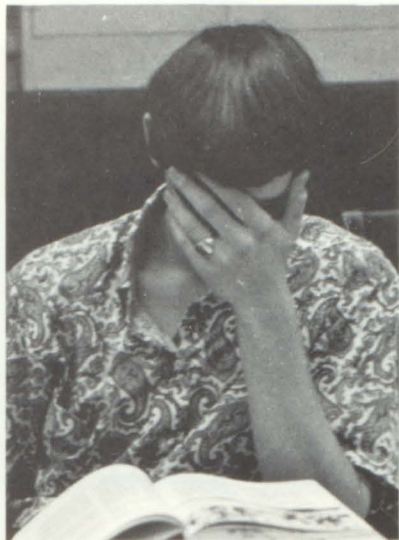

"Often The Faces Speak What Words Could Never Say"

Student life cannot be fully described with active verbs and colorful adjectives. Perhaps it is one of those words like "soul" that can never be defined because it means something different to everyone. Maybe our student life rushes thru doors, swallows a twenty-minute lunch, dozes in class, tries to change a rule, or cries at graduation. Or it might be the laughter, the whispers, the angers or the loneliness—the sharing, the grasping, the winning or the losing. But, whatever it is, it is us. . .our youth.

ACTIVITIES

An explosive year has ended! We've lived its "special" and "not-so-special" moments—homecoming parades, twenty-minute lunch breaks, championship games, oral reports, school plays, class tests, assemblies and annual dances. Now, these familiar events will be pushed aside as old high-school memories, making room for the new ones to come. The traces of our steps are swept away by a broom, our hands will no longer be raised, our voices will no longer echo through the halls and, perhaps, some day we will think, "Oh yes, I remember high school! I used to sit and talk with the guys—say, where have all my old friends gone? I can see things aren't like they used to be. Oh, how I long to be back where things were so easy, when I thought them so hard, and where everyone was so good to me, but I thought I stood alone."

"Homecoming. . . We Danced, Ate, Laughed —And It Was Over."

Homecoming blew into our doors one day, along with a few beautiful leaves. We joyously readied ourselves for the occasion by throwing away our books for awhile, and bringing out the crepe paper, staples, and scissors. Once again we put off actually working on the floats (it was much more fun to sit on the float and talk, or drive around, or play pool), until somebody cried, "We've only got three days!", and feverishly the work began.

We saw our team win, we decorated the Commons, we crowned our queen, we danced, and ate, and laughed—and it was over. "Just wait until next year—we'll finish that float if we have to start three months early!". "Why can't we have real punch instead of colored water?"

And as the laughing couples walked out the door, a foot carelessly kicked a few beautiful leaves.

-Oklahoma!

Curly woos Laurey with a song of his new "surrey with the fringe on top".

Teresa Allen and Jess Herdman find that preparation for opening night involves continuous practice.

Laurey follows her heart and declares her love for Curley.

Oklahoma—OK!

Old man Carnes sings of the fate of the farmer and the cowman.

Pit band and cast cooperated in nightly rehearsals under the direction of Mr. Dennis Bowers.

Laurey's stubborn pride stands in the way of Curley's love.

According to Jess, "Everything is up to date in Kansas City," and he should know.

The cast of Oklahoma change to the tune of "The Farmer and the Cowman Should be Friends."

Dickie Lawrence tries his best to be a cowboy and succeeds.

After one problem after another, Curley and Laurie finally are married.

Ali Hakim trades Ado Annie back to Will with a flourish and a bit of "Persian" design.

Janice Castling changes the "Robin" look to the "Poor Jud" image.

Dress Down Day Relieves Spring Fever

A typical Bonner student, Steve Elmer, drinks his milk.

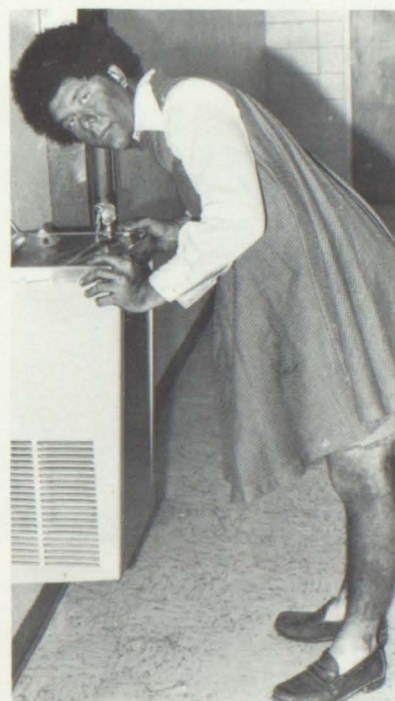

Mitchell Hill styles on dress down day.

No matter what he wears, Roger Garner keeps up his studious attitude.

Randy Langford and Connie Koska embrace in the Commons.

David Dungans pauses for refreshment before class.

Sophisticated Senior, Jim Schultz, is molested on his way to lunch by Roger Garner and Harold Pinks.

Teacher's pet John Mills gets to clean the erasers.

The Christmas Dance—A Perfect Way To Spend An Icy Evening

Anticipation rises as the attendants, candidates, and finally, the Queen, is announced.

Bruce Coleman escorts last year's Queen Debbie Freund as she leaves the dance, ending her reign.

Before we knew it, the night of the Christmas dance was here—and with it came the first snow. Books were closed and allowed to become dusty, as minds were opened, thinking of the night to come. Throughout our town, girls were ready two hours early, boys were late, and parents worried because of the icy streets.

The annual crowning of the queen took place in the traditional old-fashioned Christmas spirit. Once more the presence of one well-known Santa Claus, bearing remarkable resemblance to Mr. Arden McLaughlin, got everyone in a jovial mood. When not munching on cookies or gulping down punch, couples danced to the beat of the Nickel Plate Road. Looking back, the Christmas dance was a perfect way to spend an icy evening.

Miss Beverly Brown, Junior Candidate, and her escort Tom Morrell, take their places with other members of the royal court.

Guy Tiner's and Jana Reardon's faces reflect the happiness of the occasion.

The Royal Court: Miss Beverly Brown, Tom Morrell, Queen Cathy Miller, Lloyd Buford, Miss Revetta Pace, and Kenny Parisa.

Injun Joe Candidates Represent The Best

Shelley Warren introduced Steve Elmer in the Injun Joe Assembly.

Lloyd Buford patiently listens as his long list of merits are announced to the student body.

Marcia Miller and Patti Meier discuss their choice of candidates.

David Jaynes really wouldn't do anything like that, he just wants us to think that he would.

Tom Lage is always smiling and joking about something.

Besides being an avid football player and a school leader, Doug Eikermann is also an Honor student.

During the dance, students anticipate the announcement of Injun Joe—the boy who has contributed most to BSHS.

Annual Bosses' Dinner

Dr. Carroll Glendenning, LaVera White, and Paul Massey choose their favorites at the dinner for the secretarial training girls and their bosses.

Wendy Lange, as chairman of the planning committee, welcomes the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Teehan, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stokesbury, Mrs. Lysle Middaugh, and LaVera White are served by Paula Arnsman and Patricia Mitchell, next year's secretarial training girls.

John Mills and Rick Clark provided the entertainment, singing both original and well-known songs.

Debbie Jones and Kathy Craven assist Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tewell.

Kathy Purtee, toastmistress, introduces the next speaker.

The French Night Club

Bubbly champagne, hot dogs, French pastry, loud music and gorgeous can-can dancers combined to make the French Night Club a great evening.

Kathy Purtee sells courageous Randy Hest and a French Pastry.

The Freshmen won and Debbie Mills and Jerry Sloan reigned as King and Queen of the French Night Club.

Cheri Burcham, Sandy Ford, and Nancy Green prepare to go on and perform a wild can-can.

Mortimer subtly attempts to console Elaine (Teresa Allen) after a silly misunderstanding.

Mortimer and Lieutenant Rooney (Bruce Nevils) discuss the strange happenings in the Brewster house.

Mike Stubbs, Randy Langford, Linda Beckham, and Diana Miller are directed in a tense scene by Robin Bosanko (center), Student director.

Martha (Toni Foster) and Abby (Terri Simmons) join Reverend Dr. Harper (Doug Clark) for a harmless cup of tea.

Martha and Abby peer out of their window to determine who is approaching the door.

JCL Banquet—The Golden Apples

Costume prize winners: Barbara O'Brien, first prize in girl's costume, Elaine Reiss, second prize, Margene Zumbrunn, best costume, Doug Clark, first prize in boy's costume, Don Warring, second prize.

Mrs. Doris Stith, JCL sponsor.

Hubert Bruce attended the banquet as Zeus, the king of the gods.

Steve Fabac, Don Warring, and Don Prier admire each other's costumes.

What's a Roman Banquet without a toga?

Unforgettable Lyceums And Assemblies

Our Brave Wrestling Champions are recognized in one of many honor assemblies.

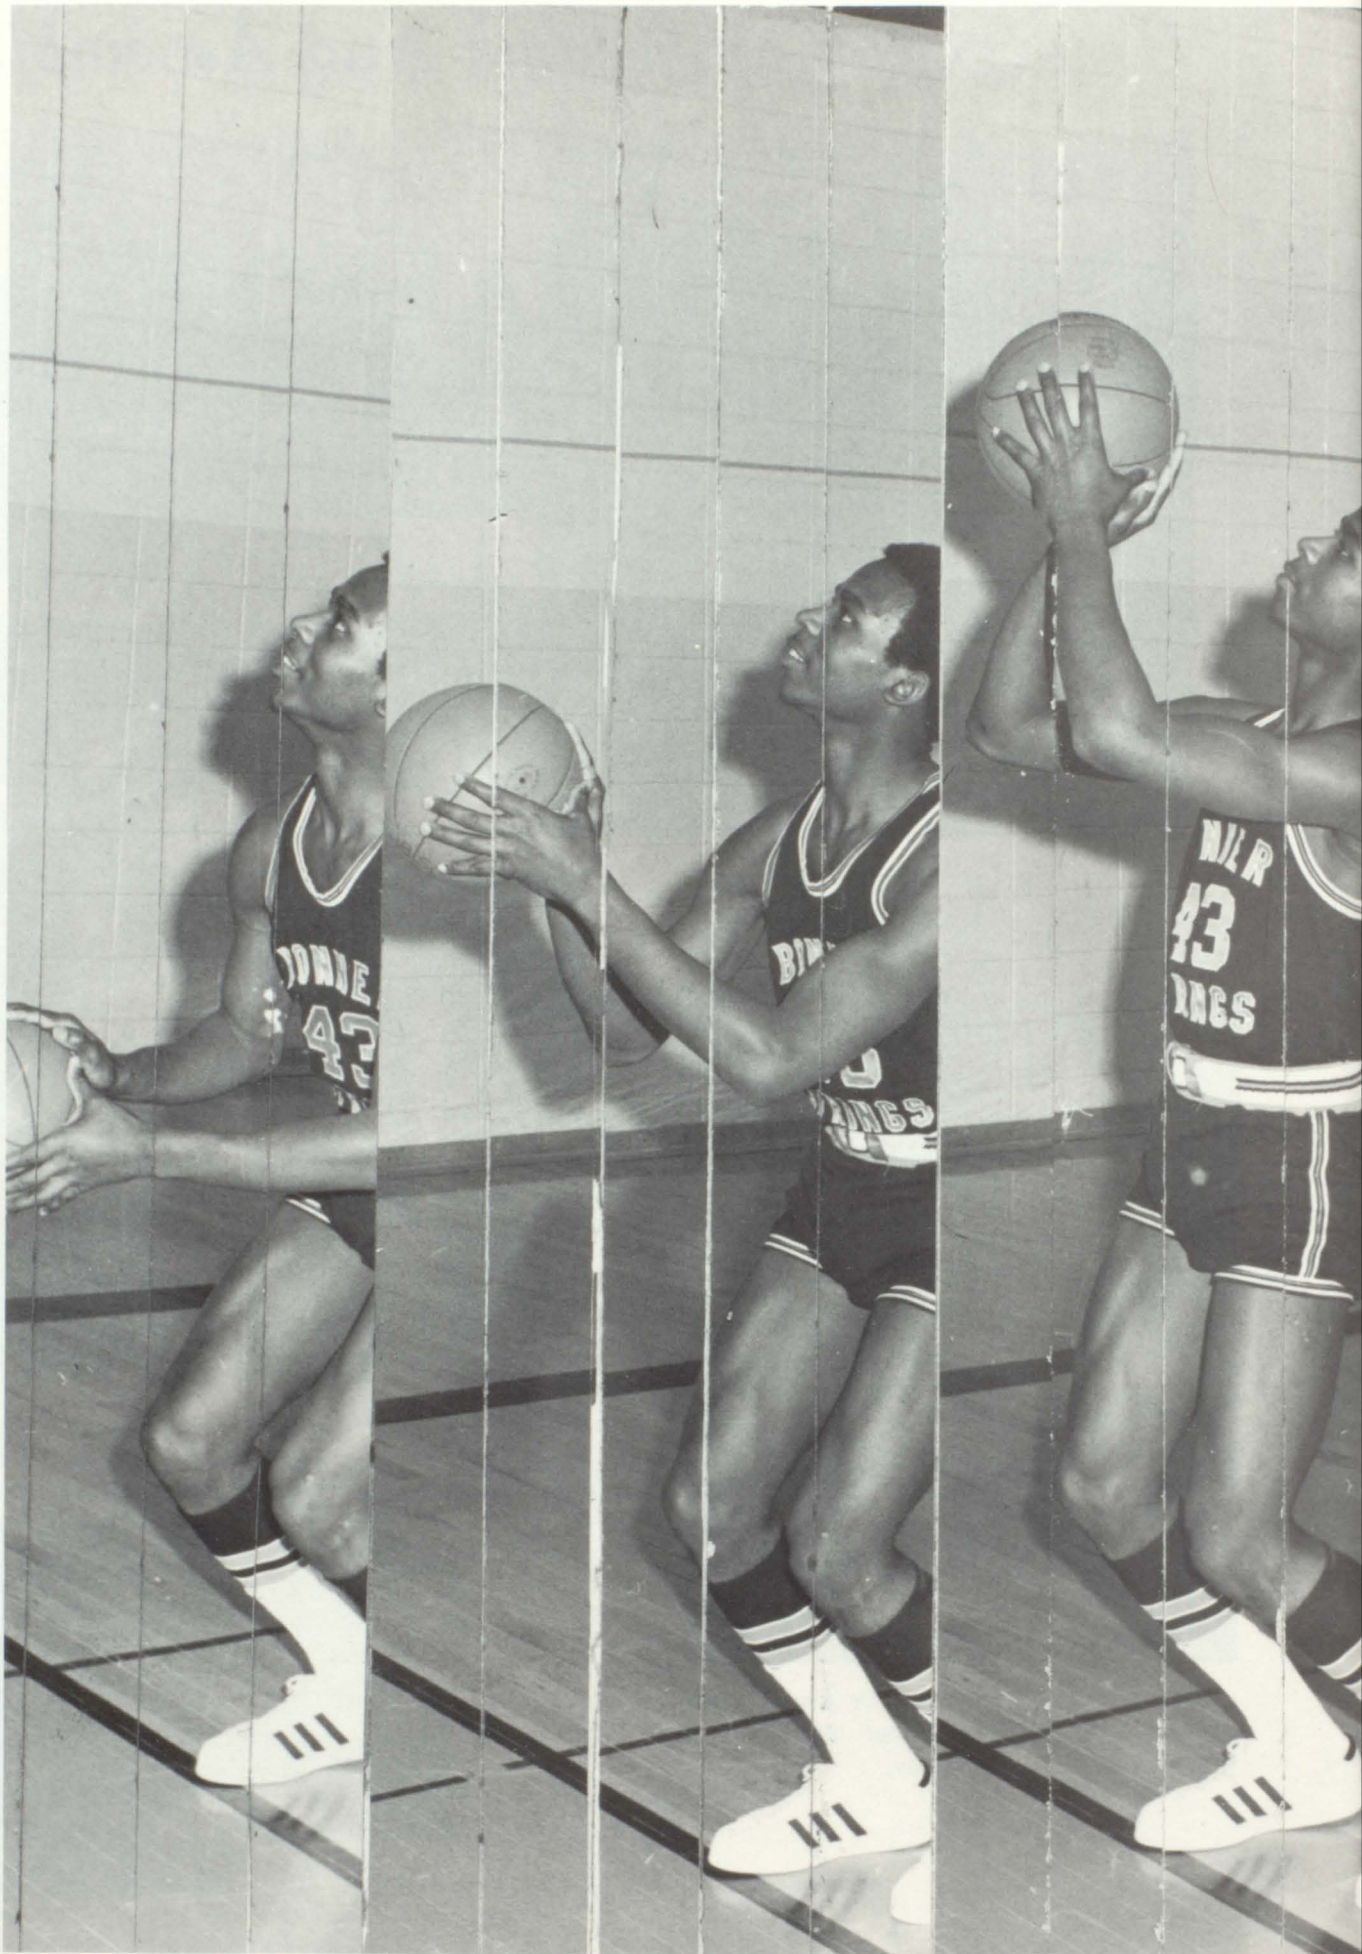

From the University of Kansas, Dr. Kevnig, along with Doug Clark, spoke about the effects of pollution on Environment Day.

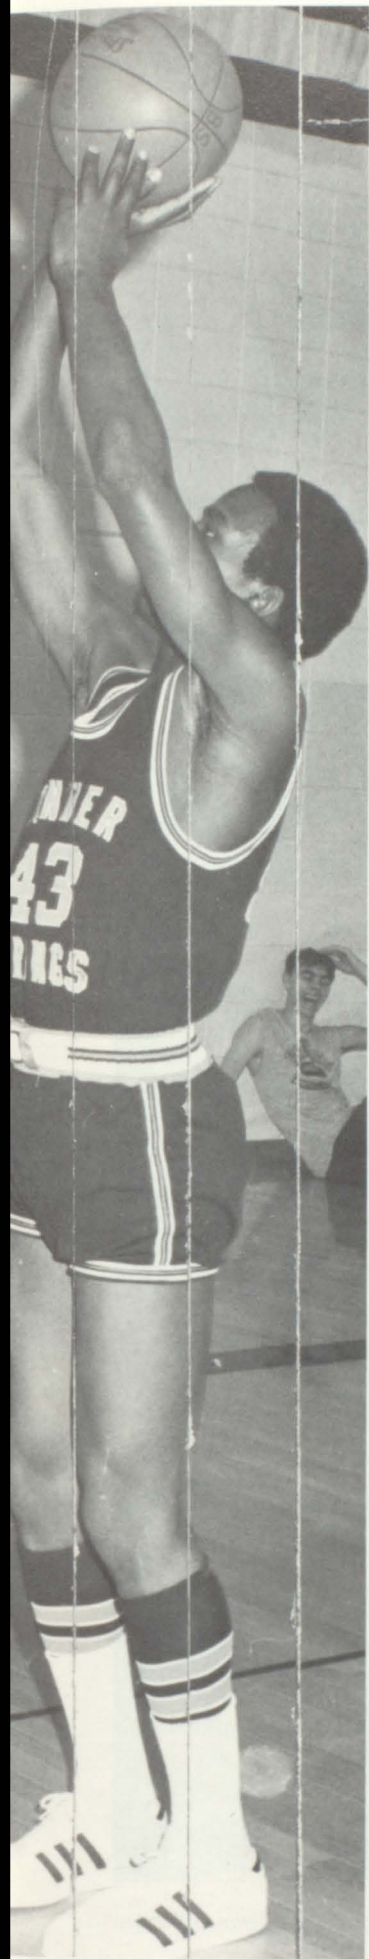

Many thought that the best assembly this year was given by Bill Laundy and the Image Makers, who donate all of their money from personal appearances to the Retarded Children's Fund.

Although almost totally blind, Mr. Fred Lowery displays his capabilities as an accomplished whistler, assisted by his wife.

Sports

Sports is the one area in school where the full gamut of emotions are exercised. Disappointment, elation, excitement, exhaustion, comradeship, loneliness, frustration, achievement, discipline, satisfaction, and even defeat are among the many feelings felt during the course of a sport. Bonner athletes have put forth the effort, achieved the skills, attained the successes and learned the lessons that a good sports program offers. Beyond that, they have learned that sports are not only a conflict and competition of man against man, but also of man against himself.

Cross Country—A Hard Unheralded Sport

J.V. and Varsity cross-country teams are: (first row) Doug Clark, Harold Pinks, Raymond Hecke, Peter Puntenny, Mike Davoren, Pat Puntenny, Randy Van

Terry DeGroot is off and running.

For a season which started and ended with a loss, the 1969-70 football season had the most successful and exciting "in-between" in the history of the school. The team built a 9-2 record which took them on those thrilling trips to Effingham and Wichita in the State competition.

The 1969-70 Braves displayed how football builds more than just physical prowess. Each boy developed responsibility as he came to daily practice; each learned sportsmanship with the wins and losses; each learned team-work as the momentum of the season developed. And with the building of a superior team came the building of young men, men of quality—maybe, great men.

David Jaynes and John Waggoner line up for the "snap".

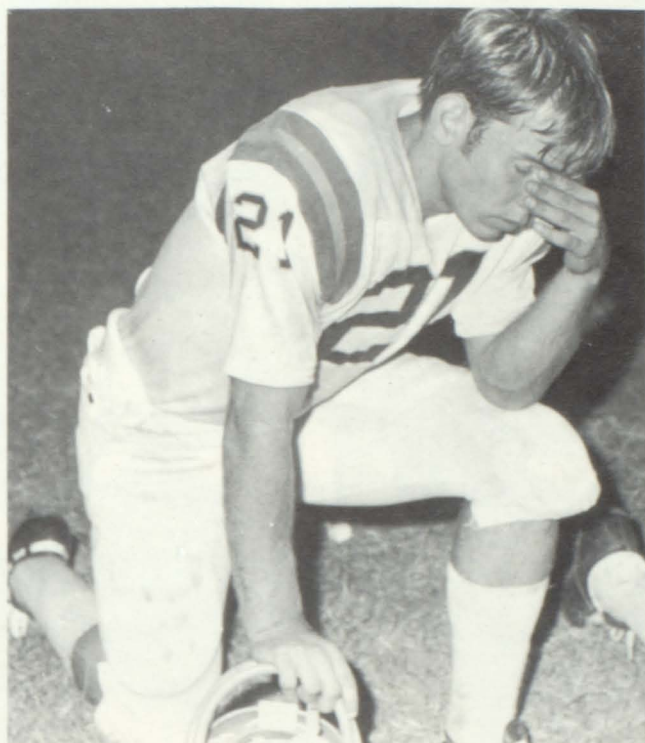

Donnie Lawrence, Football Manager for the past four years, keeps the equipment in order and repair for the team.

After grabbing the ball, Steve Wheeler races towards Bonner's goal.

Coach Phil Young—A Great Man

From the sweaty, sticky days of summer practice through the cold, frosty nights of tense games, Coach Young remained a quiet, mild, determined man. He was modest in the face of victory, hopeful in defeat, disciplined in effort, and most important, capable of getting the maximum out of a boy—be it skill, effort, or respect.

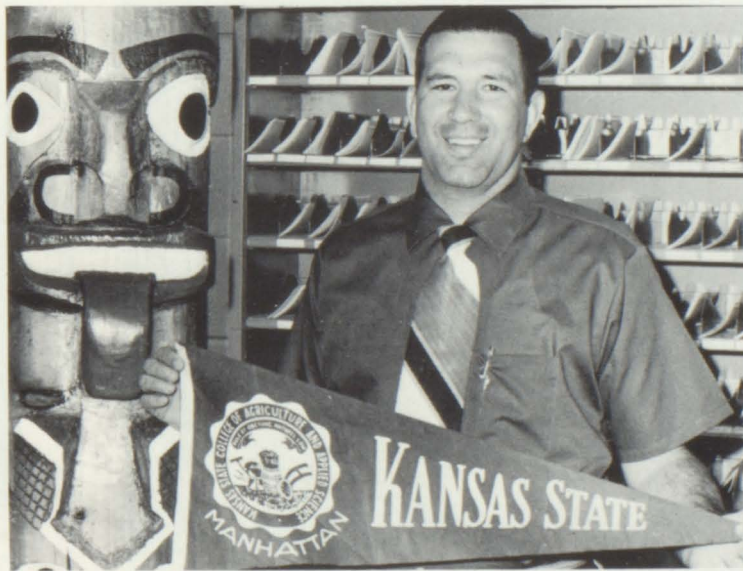

Mr. Phil Young relaxes in the teacher's lounge.

During after-school practice, Coach Young discusses football tactics with a squad member.

Coach Young was always ready to discuss a play, give support, or offer advice.

Wrestlers Keep The Brave Image

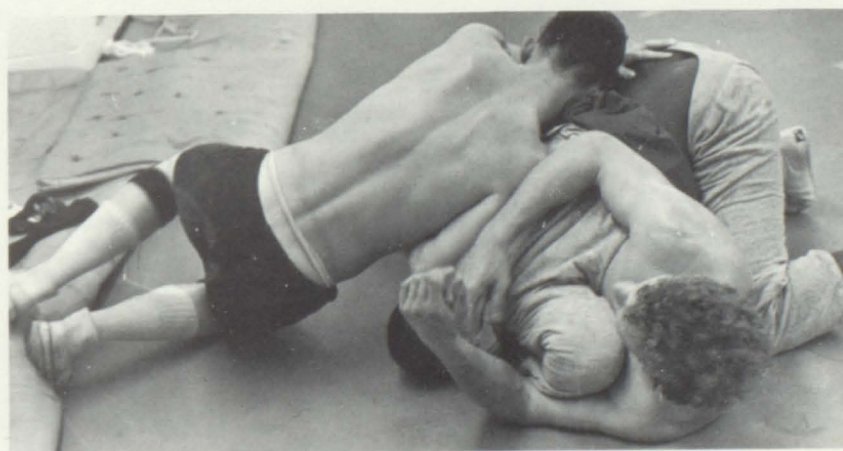

Coached by Mr. Dick Burns and Mr. Wesley Lewis, the Bonner wrestling team had another really great season. Beginning the year with a young squad, the grapplers worked to post a 7-1 dual record, losing only to Rosedale. The Braves refused to stop there, and went on to capture the league title for the fifth consecutive year. Again they moved on to take first at District, third at Regionals, and wound up the year by placing five boys in state competition.

"Tell me if this hurts," says David Middleton to Ron Kelly.

George Sprung has his man on the floor, ready for a turnover.

It's got to be in here somewhere.

Preston Cole—EKL Champ, District Champ, and runner-up at State.

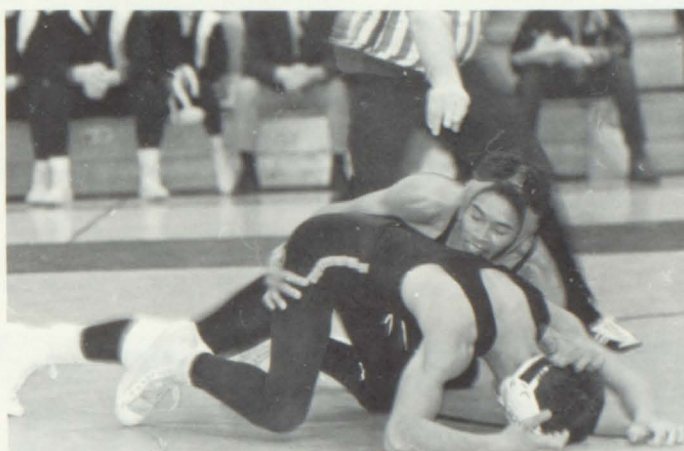

George Sprung accepts the team trophy for winning EKL.

Steve McConico receives advice and encouragement from Coach Dick Burns.

Cecil Ford turns his opponent over.

Scorekeepers John Pettis, Mr. Joe Beck, Mr. John Nobile, and Chuck Dratwick watch the wrestling Braves.

Surrounded by students and wrestlers, Coach Burns keeps his eyes on the match.

Randy Hestand pulls on his man for a takedown.

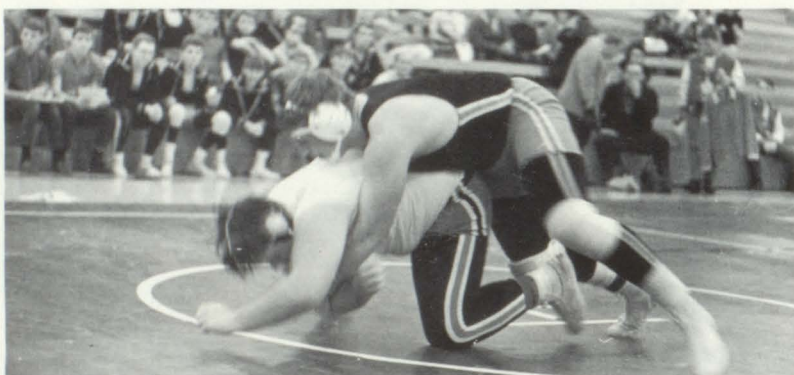

Earl Cooper counts the lights in practice.

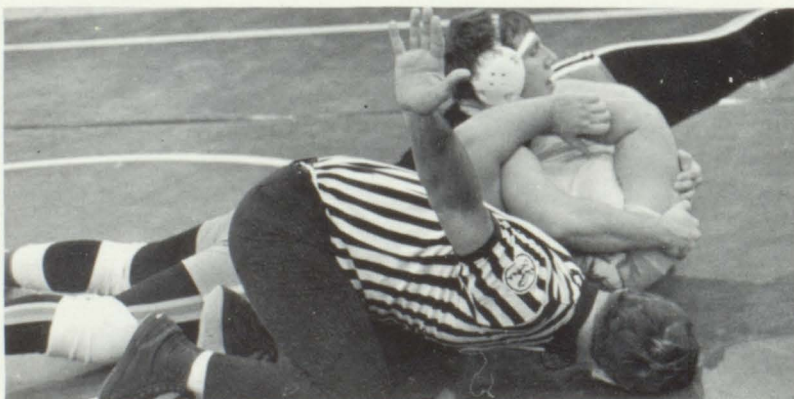

David Middleton applies a stiff crossface.

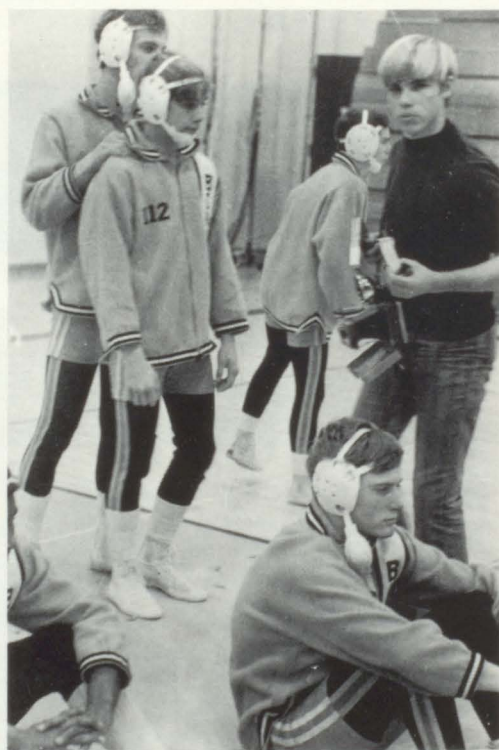

"We're No. 1"

Clay Oliver takes his man down. . .

The five-man team that attended the meet at Holton: Keith Trowbaugh, Jim Walters, Chuck Millsap, James Nelson, Peter Puntenny.

This year's golf team took many honors during their season. They won first in the two and four man team at Regionals and first in the Bonner Invitational four man team, where Chuck Millsap was medalist. At EKL our golf squad won second, with Jim Walters capturing the medalist title. At Holton, the boys won second place out of eleven teams participating.

Middleton, S. Francis, S. Shaad, D. Dalsing; (third row) K. Russell, coach, M. Mitchell, T. DeGroot, D. Eikermann, T. DeGroot, R. Newton, P. Young, coach.

Cindermen Take Five To State

Steve Day runs low hurdles in the gym.

George Anderson won the State Championship in the long jump.

High-hurdling for Bonner, Doug Eikermann broke the school record with a time of 15.4 seconds.

Versatile George Anderson pole vaults as well as participating in broad jumps and running in two relays.

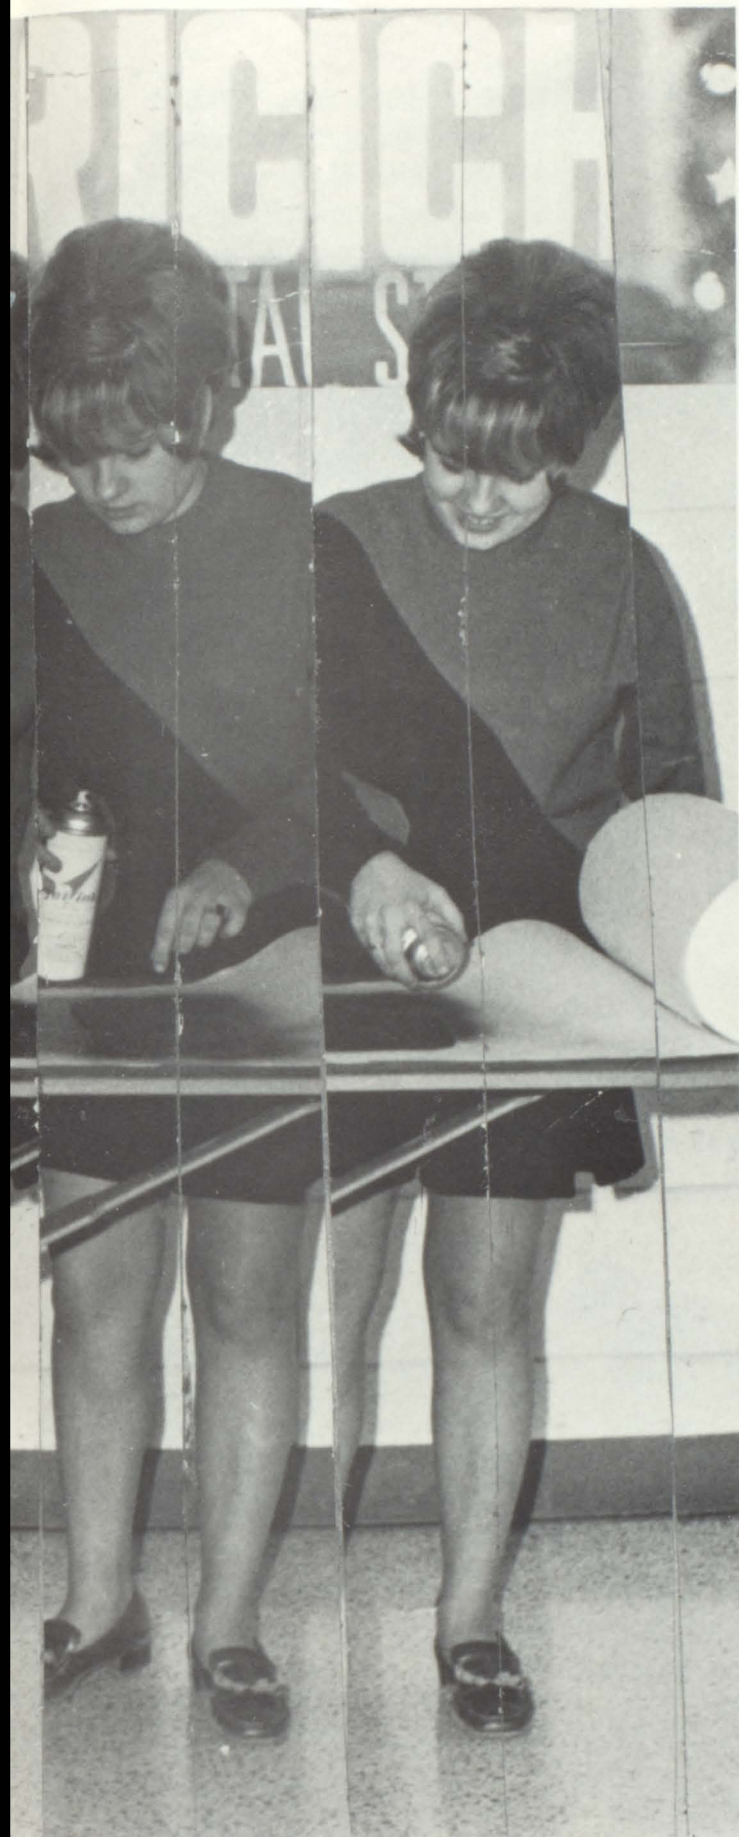

Tim DeGroot runs in the low hurdles at EKL.

Pat McGraw strains to put the twelve pound shot in the league meet.

Organizations

Selling chocolate bars, and Christmas holly; taping crepe paper streamers for a dance or carnival; working third quarter of J.V. at the refreshment stand—all of these reflect various jobs and responsibilities we share after joining an organization at school. We may learn an unlimited amount of knowledge during class, but it is during activity periods and after school that we really begin to understand what parents and teachers have been telling us for years. Now we begin to realize that working together and getting along with our peers helps us to accomplish tasks and goals we could not have done alone.

Student Council

David Jaynes, Stuco President.

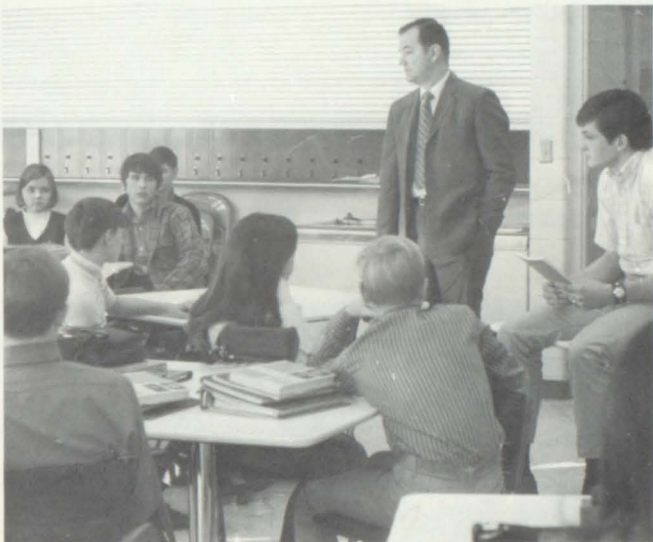

Stuco officers are: Roscoe Newton, Parliamentarian; Robin Bosanko, Vice-President; Pat Trowbridge, Treasurer; Nanci Stubblefield, Secretary; David Jaynes, President.

Every year Student Council sponsors many important, complicated activities at BSHS. In the fall, they hold freshmen elections, and in the spring, all-school elections are directed by Stuco officers and representatives. Student council organized the Homecoming assembly, half-time ceremonies, and the annual dance.

This year Stuco rewrote their Constitution, sponsored a mixer during football season, brought Bill Laundry for an assembly, and gave all the proceeds to mentally retarded children, and sponsored a student's favorite—dress down day.

Usually Stuco meetings were crowded with representatives. . .

. . .but sometimes nobody came.

Thespians is an active, rewarding organization! It is filled with students who like to perform, work together, and, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Christine Wood, plan a year of exciting activities. These include two school plays (Oklahoma!, and Arsenic and Old Lace), and a traveling troupe that performs mystical, amusing children's plays. Throughout the year, Thespians delve into the character of a drunken German doctor, transform a freshman into sophisticated fairy princess, or strategically direct a spotlight. But, most of all, they have a great time.

Future Teachers of America is a national organization for high school students planning to be teachers. This year they started a practice teaching program in which senior members with a free period could assist teaching at the grade school or junior high. They also began a tutoring project with the guidance office. The local Teachers Association recognizes and honors the group and awards a scholarship each year to a senior FTA member so that the profession of teaching will grow with dedicated, informed youth.

Faculty

Faculty—you have no idea how much we owe you! Nine months out of every year we listen to you, question you, talk to you, observe you, imitate you. You—all alone, facing us from the front of the room. Facing us was sometimes an almost impossible task—Monday mornings we were tired, fourth hours we were hungry, and in the spring we were restless. Whenever we could find an excuse we used it. Yet, you never gave up, you kept on with pride and discipline. And we admire you for that. And we will admire you more as we learn the degree of patience, the measure of personal discipline, and the quality of pride you had in your subject matter and the dedication you gave to our improvement and education.

Whether delving into a textbook or selecting a film strip, teachers offer their experience, their knowledge, and their patience to educational affairs. They perpetually try to reach out to us in lectures, discussions and assignments. Changing a frown of exasperation and confusion with a question answered, filling a void with an assignment and a discussion, thus our teachers led us toward one more step—understanding one more idea in a complex world.

Those first scary days as freshmen when our teachers seemed unapproachable was long ago, especially as we realize their humanness, their dedication to us and finally, their trust. Then came that last sad good-bye, and we knew then that the teacher and the learner had become friends.

Achievements

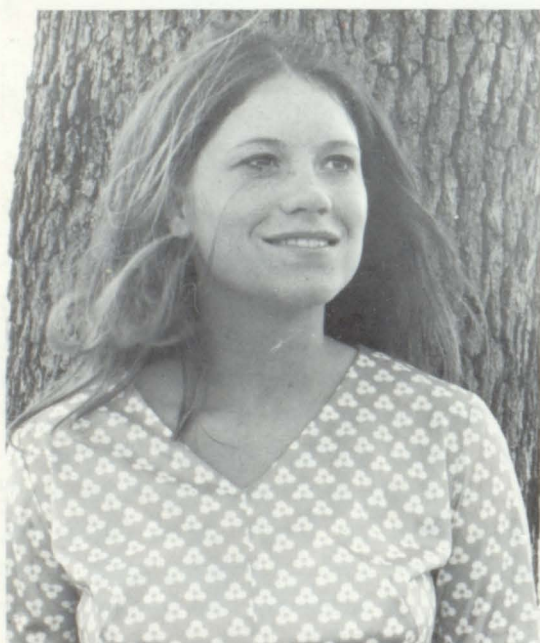

Thomas Morton once said, "Push on—keep moving." But how difficult it is to "keep moving" after a goal is reached or a grade is received! However, there are many students at Bonner who never give up, not even after sleepless nights, endless themes, boring research, cramming, and forgetting. After all of this they keep on trying, never hesitating, moving forward without looking back. These students are the achievers, the leaders of our school.

Outstanding Seniors Receive Honors

Neils Mortenson is the Senior class valedictorian with a grade average of 3.94.

Salutatorian with a 3.91 average is Barbara Honeywell.

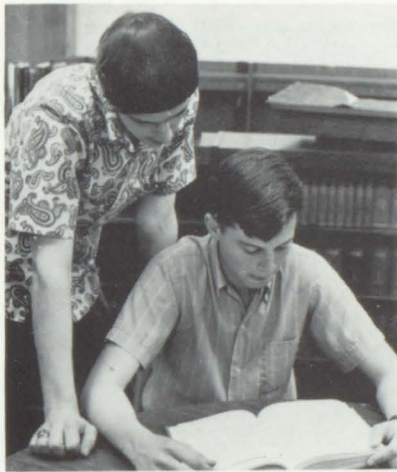

Honor Students Achieve

Those students touring Europe this summer are: Pam Mitts, Marla Kerby, Debbie Haynes, David Shaad, Miss Pat Sheley, sponsor, Mary Ann Eikermann, and Susan Trent.

Seniors Receive High Honors

National Honor Society students deserve being honored for four years of achievements. They are: (beginning at bottom) Ellen Mistler, Linda Innis, LaVera White, Teresa Allen, Alicia Williams, Patti Meier, Karolyn DeGroot, Jocelyn Harrell, Wendy

Lange, Barbara Honeywell, Joyce Pruessner, Mike Stubbs, Jana Reardon, Dede Freund, David Jaynes, Brian Boyce, Vanessa Hadley, Vickie Mason, Nanci Stubblefield, Amy Ottinger, Neils Mortenson, Marcia Miller. (Doug Eikermann, not pictured)

Twenty-four seniors were elected to the National Honor Society by the faculty. Students selected were from the top 25% of their class, and were rated on character, leadership, and service to their school.

In 1968, six seniors were announced by Mr. Don Stokesbury, principal, as Top Honor students. In 1969, there were seven. However, this year eleven BSHS seniors will graduate with top honors. The qualifications for Top-Honor Students required a 3.5 grade point average, and that the student be in the upper 10% of their class.

The Top Honor Students for 1970 included: Brian Boyce, Mike Stubbs, Neils Mortenson, Ellen Mistler, Marcia Miller, Patti Meier, Nanci Stubblefield, Joyce Pruessner, Debbie Freund, and Alicia Williams. (Barbara Honeywell, not pictured)

Marcia Miller aids Doug Eikermann as the couple Most Likely to Succeed.

Classes

Class distinction ties a group of individuals together who may have nothing at all in common but the sharing of an unspoken pledge to "stick together". Black, white, intelligent or not, male, female—all clasp hands and remain loyal to their class in high school. Perhaps never again will we belong to a group which involves so much personal sharing, spirit and pride. At Homecoming and Christmas, each class selects the "just right" girl to represent them during the seasonal festivities, while everyone, freshmen as well as seniors, are involved in healthy competition planning, building, and finishing their class float. Too quickly Prom rolls around, and the junior class engages in money-making projects to earn enough money to give the seniors their last big prom. Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior—each has a meaning—each has a memory.

Junior-Senior Prom. . .

Toni Foster doesn't seem too happy as Roscoe Newton glances at another beautiful girl.

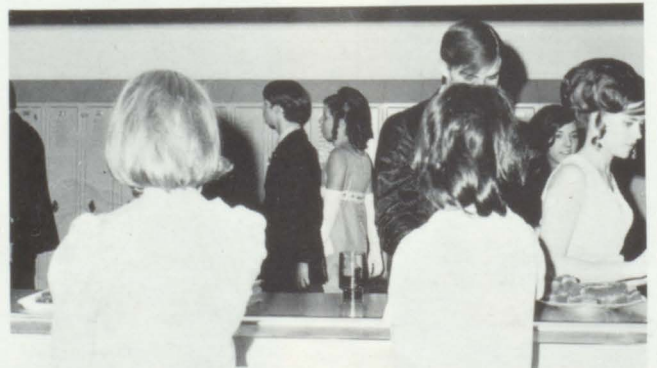

There could be nothing better than to dance to a great band such as Bobby Soul.

Barbara Passler and Tom Wyrick dance in the midst of many other Braves.

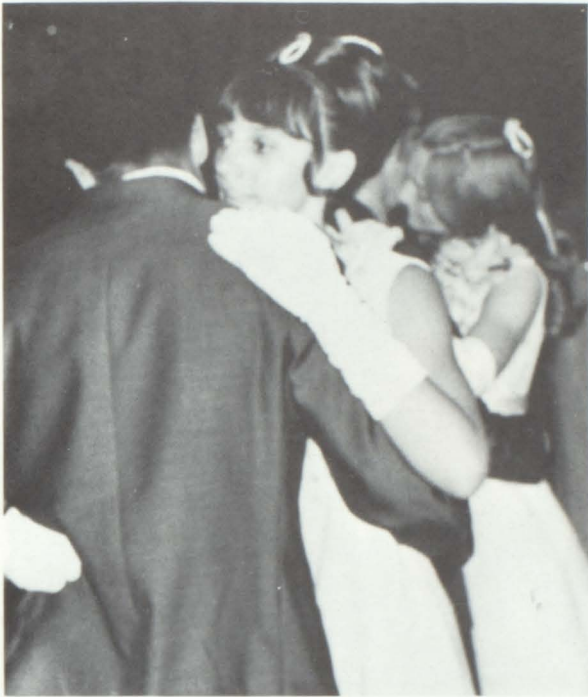

Conversation, mixed with music, made it a great Prom.

There was always a steady stream at the refreshment counter.

A Great Climax To A Beautiful Year

And did the faculty ever enjoy the party.

Dennis Drennon and Cindy Charleston are seen at the height of their evening.

Ed Sheley and Debbie Johnson knew when to quit, but did Brita Grady... ever?

Enjoying the refreshments and music, these couples relax for a precious few minutes.

No event could ever compare with Prom! Surrounded by colorful flashing light, luminous posters, the music of Bobby Soul, and friends, the Seniors regretfully took one last look around, realizing that this was the last major social event of their high school lives. This year's theme—Soul Explosion, exploded into a great ending for departing seniors—but perhaps just the beginning of a beautiful last year for those lucky juniors.

Every prom has a cocktail lounge, can't you tell?

Looks like someone's having a hard time deciding who to dance with?

"All right David, if you can get into high gear, maybe we can get into that line", jokes Beverly Brown.

"I bet you tell that to all of the girls", groans Marcia Miller.

Soul Explosion With Bobby Soul

Debbie Powell wonders what her date is going to do next.

Which camera is Robert Waters looking in to?

Phil Johnston is concentrating on his new dance—the intoxicated hop.

“And now Mr. Bell, may I present Walt,” says Nanci Stubblefield.

Ron Mindedahl won first prize in the penguin contest.

Baccalaureate Is Now A Memory

April Carter can't resist Ron in his royal blue cap and gown.

The packed audience come to their feet as the departing seniors take their places for baccalaureate services.

The members of the graduating class of 1970 come together to hear words of encouragement and knowledge.

Mr. John Nobile, senior sponsor, adds his special touch to the cap of a lucky senior girl.

Teresa Allen, Karolyn DeGroot, and Pam Prier look excitedly at their caps and gowns.

Graduation Day . . . May 26, 1970

Seniors line up for the last time before walking down the sloping hill to the new Brave's stadium.

Doug Eikermann and Brian Boyce exchange laughter about the past four years of good and bad times.

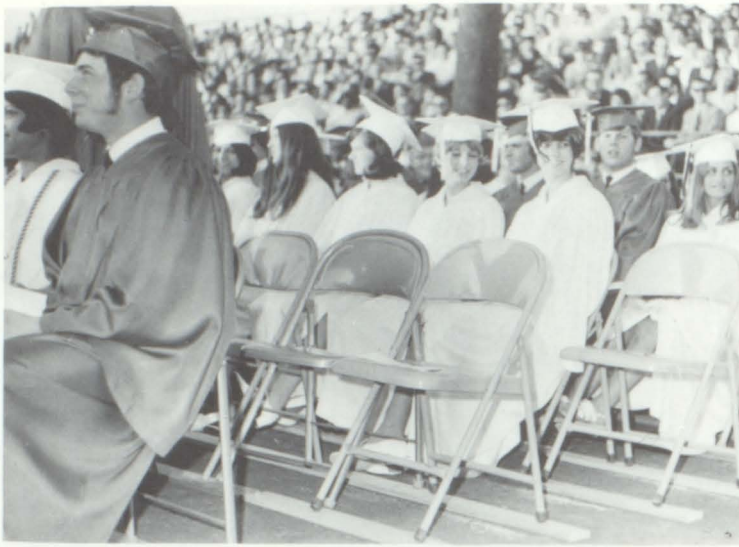

Mr. John Nobile, senior sponsor, kept the nervous graduates calm and laughing with his jokes and smiling face.

"What we call the beginning is often the end; and to make an end is to make a beginning. The end is where we start from."

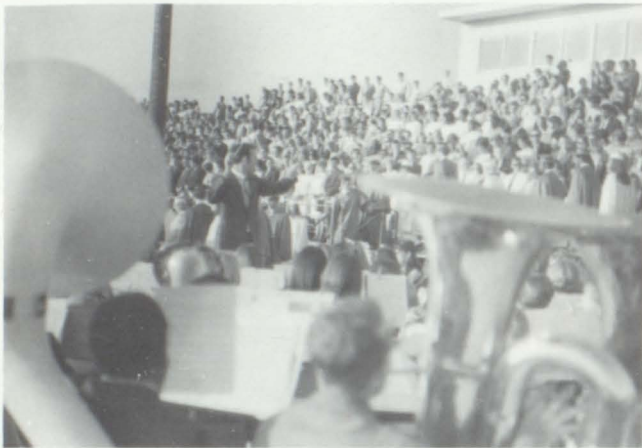

—T.S. Eliot

There could never be such an enormous feeling of self-satisfaction as when a senior receives his diploma.

A little piece of each of us was left behind as we touched and finally clasped the diploma in our hands.

The traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" was played while the graduating seniors proudly walked to their seats.

The graduates turn in their caps and gowns before receiving their real diplomas—a product of four high school years.

That Tuesday night came too quickly perhaps. For suddenly we were walking down the hill to the new stadium. We could already feel ourselves changing. The moment we donned our caps and gowns we felt different, somehow. Pride, responsibility, unity—yet, we also felt strongly independent. Sitting there for the last time with friends of four years standing, we just wanted to stop this feeling for one moment—but no, it was over all too quickly and suddenly we were running back up the hill, feeling free and good and self-satisfied. But then the feeling came back again that something was missing, or was it that something was just gone? We've left behind some good times—full of youth, innocence, and craziness, but we will have more. Promise me, we will have more!
